CONTENTS

Renin in Experimental Renal Hypertension in Monkeys. Morton H. Frank........ 211

Relationships Between the Release and Tissue Depletion of Norepinephrine from the Heart by Guanethidine and Reserpine. Donald C. Harrison, Charles A. Chidsey, Robert Goldman, and Eugene Braunwald................. 256

Study of the Relationship Between the Neurotransmitter Store and Adrenergic Nerve Block Induced by Reserpine and Guanethidine. Thomas E. Gaffney, Charles A. Chidsey, and Eugene Braunwald................. 264

Production of Arterial Lesions by a Humoral Factor in Parabiotic Rats. Paul R. Patek, Sol Bernick, and Donald K. MacCallum................. 291

Hemodynamic Effects of Guanethidine in Man. Jay N. Cohn, Thomas E. Liptak, and Edward D. Freis................. 298

Conduction of Cardiovascular Sound Along Arteries. J. Job Faber and James H. Purvis................. 308

Comparison of Central and Peripheral Injection Sites in the Estimation of Cardiac Output by Dye Dilution Curves. George A. Bousvaros, Wilfred H. Palmer, Paul Sekelj, and M. McGregor................. 317

Intraventricular Pressure and the Distribution of Coronary Blood Flow. Renato Cutarelli and Matthew N. Levy................. 322

News from the American Heart Association.................. 328

Contributors to this Issue.................. 331